Guest Lecture Dr. Zelda Barends (Stellenbosch University)

18th May 2021
12:30 – 14:00 (CET)

„Being a language teacher in a cultural and linguistic diverse setting, considerations for primary education“

Content: Language teachers have the opportunity to immerse their learners in situational learning roles whilst focusing on teaching them how to converse, read and write. However this is not always easy in linguistically and culturally diverse spaces. This lecture will explore the roles and responsibilities of the language teacher in such spaces and present examples for such cases from South Africa.
